SATURDAY EVENING, JANUARY 5.

AN OLD PORTRAIT OF CHRIST.—In London was exhibited a few weeks ago, at a fair in aid of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel among the Jews, a remarkable portrait of Christ, purporting to be the oldest and best one in existence. It is said to be a copy of a picture given to the society for its endowments and has a fixed to it a description saying it is "very old and wonderful" and that it was painted from an engraving on a medallion belonging to a MS. parchment which gave in Greek and Latin a description of the man's person and physiology of Christ. It is supposed to date from the time of the early emperors, and until recently was kept in the private museum of the Pope. The head and shoulders are represented, the head being turned slightly to the left and the eyes having an expression of great dignity and tenderness, and looking upward.
